

KIDS EAT FREE!!! with Kathy Kuiper

MISSION VIEJO KIDS FREEBIES

As the Mom of four growing kids that seem to eat us out of house and home, we like to eat out at places where kids eat free. Usually, it's one kid eats free per adult paid meal, so we buy an adult meal for one of our kids, and then three eat free. Still a great deal and we save money to go towards our next ski trip!

OLD MacDONALD HAD A FARM IN MISSION VIEJO

FAMOUS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ATTRACTION HAD A HOME IN MISSION VIEJO FOR A SPELL

Old Mac Donald's Farm was located at Crown Valley/5 Frwy., right where the Kaledioscope sits today

Located where the Kaledioscope Shopping Center is today, "Old MacDonald's Farm" was the home of many a Mission Viejo birthday party.

Back then, people would park their cars at the top of a hill on Crown Valley Parkway and push a button that would sound a big horn to let the people at the farm know you were there. The farm would send a farm tractor pulling a trailer filled with hay bales for people to sit on, and then they would take you back down the hill to the farm which had a petting zoo, a mule-powered merry-go-round, a blacksmith, a barn, a country store and various animals and attractions.

The farm was an attraction that had previously been at Knott's Berry Farm and was run by Kay and Fulton Shaw who then moved it to Mission Viejo in 1969 after a disagreement with Walter Knott and his wife Cordelia.

One of the most beloved features of the farm was the performing animals. Methuselah, the goat, would butt things for his oats and grain pellets. Chicken Little played a piano for snacks. Porky Pig slid down a slide for a treat. Peter Cottontail hopped onto a cable car and nibbled alfalfa pellets at the end of the line. They also had chickens that would play pianos, and rabbits that would go down slides for a nickel.

Probably their most famous resident was Tilly the Taper, who once escaped from the farm and was found by the police in San Juan Capistrano along Camino Capistrano, in a story that made the national news.

MISSION VIEJO INTERSECTION NIPPLES

GROUND SURFACE INDICATORS

Mission Viejo is installing truncated domes at the base of access ramps on city streets. These are detectable warnings which enable people with visual disabilities to determine the boundary between the sidewalk and street. Because truncated domes have a unique design, they can be detected underfoot and by sound on cane contact.

Color contrast is another beneficial aspect of the truncated dome, making the tile visually detectable from the surrounding surface.
